1. All questions are compulsory to attempt: (125-150 Words) (12.5 × 4 = 50)

- (a) Analyze the Challenges to the successful functioning of Local Self Governing institutions after the enactment of 73rd and 74th Amendment.
- (b) Electoral reforms in India have come a long way in addressing the maladies of electoral system of India.
- (c) The role of pressure groups in policy formulation and their implications for Indian democracy.
- (d) Critically analyse the composition of Indian Constituent Assembly.

(a) The 73rd and 74th constitutional Amendment Act provided for the establishment of Panchayats in rural areas and municipalities in the urban respectively. But their working has not been satisfactory. Mawishankar Ayer committee held that "bad panchayat is worse than no panchayat". Similarly Singhvi committee held that Panchayat is a "god that has failed".

challenges

- ① The panchayats and urban local bodies (ULBs) almost do not have any funds. They are mostly

Remarks

dependent on the state/central government

② lack of training and capacity to the elected representatives

③ Lack of functionaries, they are still dependent on the state bureaucracy

④ Manishankar Ayer committee ~~had highlighted~~ the conspiracy indifference shown by state governments in making panchayats work

⑤ lack of transparency in the appointment of the members of state finance commission

⑥ lack of regular elections.

⑦ Many committees showed the nexus between bureaucracy and dominant castes, thereby making social audit meaningless, and made citizen committees mouthpieces of the contractors.

play forward

Pandit commission has given the following recommendations.

Remarks

Q

Brilliant analysis if needed
This is the level of analysis only if you want to get in an easy answer

- (1) Establishment of legislative council in every states & having representation from panchayats and ULBs similar to Rajya Sabha.
- (2) Establishment of National commission for oversight panchayat/ULBs to monitor them.
- (3) 2nd ARC in its report of local governance highlighted the need for proper activity mapping as done in Kerala.
- (4) 2nd ARC, held that states should be taken into confidence to remove the difference between "voluntary" and "mandatory" provision.
- (5) Fourteenth Finance Commission, gave recommendations to mobilize resources for the local bodies Ex: Property tax.

(C) Pressure groups are "interest groups" or "influence groups". They are the "private associations to influence public policy".

Remarks

They work in a collective manner to bring change in the behavior of the bureaucracy to implement a public policy in their favor.

Ram Kothari, held that till 1990's they don't have legitimacy because of the dominance of Congress system.

Myron Weiner, held that Pressure groups of trade unions are nothing but "party secondary parties" to mainstream political parties.

Stanley Kochaneck held that from 1990s the "shattered pluralism" has given way to an increased number of pressure groups.

They use the techniques of like lobbying, protesting, drafting the bills, rallies and even if need go by indulging in corruption. There are many types of pressure groups in India like types of pressure groups in India like

Remarks

(1) Institutional Pressure Groups (PG)

(2) Associational PG

(3) Non Associational PG

(4) Anomie PG

The role of PG like FICCI etc are clearly visible in our policies. For Ex: The New capital goods policy, 2016 is mainly due to pressure of FICCI. And the acceptance of recommendations of 7th pay commission is mainly due to institutional PG in Indian P gvt.

The implication has been both positive and negative.

Advantages:

(1) They facilitated the achievement of

(1) political modernization

(2) They helped in achieving interest aggregation who voice otherwise won't be heard. Ex: Anna Hazare's anti corruption drive

Remarks

(3) Acted as the reservoir of political leadership.

(A) It helped in filling the vacuum in between the elections.

② Press Disadvantages:

(1) require established organization and funds, which is not possible for marginalized.

(2) Many acted as anti-development Ex: Greenpeace

(3) laws are made on road instead of parliament having its own problem Ex: Lokpal which has its own set of deficiencies.

PA helped in achieving "democratization of the Indian politics" and "functional differentiation" which scholars like Lucian Pye used to study post-colonial society. They helped in moving away from "prismatic" societies as FW Riggs would call.

(b) Electoral reforms came to be known as the mother of all reforms as the root cause for all problems lies in politics. There are few electoral reforms that helped India address the deficiencies in electoral system like.

Remarks:

(1) scrapping invalidating sec 8(4) of the Representation of People Act, which helped in decriminalization of Indian politics.

(2) Election Commission of India (ECI), innovative measures like Model code of conduct and initiatives like SVEEP helped in solving problems of booth capturing, rigging and bringing transparency.

(3) ECI has increased the amount that can be spent for the assembly constituencies to around 80L in the last elections.

(4) Introduction of NOTA. But many electoral reforms are pending.

Many committees like Dinesh Goswami committee have given following recommendations.

(1) State Funding of elections, for the recognized political parties so that money power can be reduced.

Remarks

8

- (2) Introducing internal democracy in the parties
- (3) Increasing upper limit further as 80L is not sufficient in many constituencies.
- (4) Bringing political parties under RTI.
Electoral reforms are the need of the hour.
to ensure free and fair process of elections
- (d) The Indian constituent Assembly was established as per the provisions of cabinet mission plan.
Indian national congress has around 200 seats.
The no number seats for minorities like Sikhs, and muslims were given in accordance to their population. Also there is representation for princely states who can nominate their members to CA.
The CA derived members from all sections of society and rep. acted as true "microcosm" of Indian Society. Though they are claims of Indian Society, though they are claims that it is dominated by Brahmins, it not the case as evident in our constitution, which gives many rights to minorities and disadvantaged castes.

Remarks

2. Attempt all questions: (250-300 Words)

($25 \times 2 = 50$)

(a) The country has travelled a long way from the principled politics of 1950s to personalised politics today. Critically analyse the statement with specific reference to the major political parties and their ideological bases.

(b) From one party dominance to a multi-party power sharing model, India has seen diverse phases of Coalitional politics. Describe this evolution briefly phase wise. Do you agree that benefits and challenges associated with Coalition governments exist simultaneously?

(b) The party system is defined by the number of political parties that are active in the political system. India has moved from one party dominance system to a "comprehensive multi party system".

There are many scholars who studied this evolution: one of the prominent scholars is Zoya Hasan, who divides into two parts:

(1) One party dominant system.

(2) Multi party system.

The first extended till 1967, in which Congress maintained its hegemony and in the second we can witness emergence of the regional political parties.

Remarks

one of the most accepted by work
 It was by Rajni Kothari, who gave the following phases

Phase I:- Till - 1967:-

This phase is called by Kothari as "congress system". He emphasizes the dominance of the congress in the politics.
 He calls the congress as "party of consensus"

a. by which, he means there are varied opinions within congress but could achieve consensus and uses the term "parties of pressure" for opposition. By this he implies that opposition at maximum can exert pressure, there are acting on the peripheries of the party system.

Phase II:- 1967-1980s :-

This is the phase of "regionalization" and of Indian politics. This is due to the emergence of increased political awareness and

Remarks

"trickle down of Democracy". This has led to breakdown of congress system. For Ex: regional parties like TDP, AIADMK, emerged.

Phase III: From mid 1980s to 1990s:-

In this we see the revival of the Congress. For Ex:- On the elections of 1980 and 1984, Congress has won with huge majority. But in 1987 it again lost.

Phase IV: From 1990's to till date:-

India has embarked into an age of coalitions. We see almost all the governments that are formed are of coalitions. Ex:- NDA, UPA etc. Till 2014 LS elections, no party could get absolute majority. After the nature of with the emergence of coalition governments there is a new debate on the suitability of coalition govt. to Indian political system. Prof. Vidyut chakravarthy has compared our coalitions with western. He called western coalitions as

Remarks

(1) coalition by design

(2) coalition by ideology

(3) minimum winning coalitions

In contrast our coalitions are

(1) coalitions by political calculations

(2) oversized coalitions

(3) lack of coherence of ideologies of coalition

But because of which he called our political parties as "catch all parties". This led to new problems and benefits as discussed

Benefits:-

(1) It improved the spirit of federalism in India. As Rashieddin calls our Federalism became multi-region federalism

(2) It reduced the misuse of the Article 356

Remarks

(3) Made our Democracy more inclusive.

Disadvantages:-

- ① Policy paralysis. This clearly evident in UPA.
- ② Decline of parliament; PM has reduced to a and cabinet. PM has reduced to a manager relating the "conflicting views and demands"
- ③ Black mailing tendency.
- ④ Compromising merit for political calculations.
Ex: our cabinet usually consists of one member from Lingayats, Reddies, Ishaavakls etc.
Hence we can conclude there are both benefits and disadvantages with coalitions coalition is a reality in India, hence rather than discussing how to avoid we should learn how to deal with it. Many countries like Germany, Israel always had coalitions but dealt with it by giving space to opposition, taking decisions by consensus and deliberation, increasing transparency to solve the problem of misunderstanding can be implemented in our political system also. We can make Federalism "differential loading" to a truly cooperative competitive Federalism by acting in spirit of sabka saath, sabka vikas.

Remarks

(14) good effort.

- (a) The statement reflects how the lack of internal democracy in our political parties has resulted into a personalized form of politics ~~today~~ today. scholars like Morris Jones, in his book Parliament in India, explained how parliamentary form of govt is a successful project in India. In this he highlighted the role of Congress which adopted the principles of internal democracy and committed for true democracy by subscribing to principles of freedom of speech of expression.

Remarks

This principled politics of the congress has was done away soon with emergence of "Market polity" and increasing defections. The power was now increasingly concentrated in the hands of party president. Ex: Indira Gandhi leading to authoritarian trends and imposition of emergency. Rajni Kothari, emphasises that it is this personalized politics that led to decline of congress during Indira Gandhi and Rajiv Gandhi. scholars like Zoya Hasan, highlight the role of dynastic politics in India despite the failure of Rajiv Gandhi to regenerate the moral and mobilization of people for congress. A recent study of Kailash of 16th LS elections shows the impact of personalized politics in the ideological base of congress. He said despite welfare schemes, the ideological base of the congress has not given result to the party.

Remarks

Prof' Anand chakravarthy, highlighted the mobilization of people in the name of caste and class despite their ideological basis of secular character.

The personalized politics today is not just to search for power and resulted in catch-all parties. For Ex. congress got into alliance with left despite ideological differences.

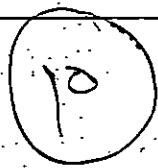

The same is true for left, which got into alliances in 1977 and with UPA despite having ideological differences.

The perio phenomenon of personalization is not limited to congress but also evident in BJP. For Ex. 16th LS was entirely carried in the name of Modi rather than party. The study of Satiushdeshpande concluded the effect of Modi in the result he argued that 2014 elections are another example of "wave elections". As recommended by the law commission, the need of hour is to restore the internal democracy.

4. Attempt all questions: (250-300 Words) (25 × 2 = 50)

- (a) The healthy working of Indian federal system has been severely affected by the overarching and interfering attitude of Union governments. How has the mechanism of president rule in States intensified this debate, illustrate with newly emerging debate on this topic.
- (b) Is it correct to say that the judiciary in India has compelling reasons to adopt an activist approach? Verify the claim that this activism has led to 'Judicial Overreach' on several occasions with suitable examples.

(b) Sololars, the Indian Judiciary has often stated as an example of the most powerful Judiciary in the world. The importance of Judiciary is reflected in the statement of Lord Bryce who held "When the lamp of Justice goes off one could not imagine the amount of darkness". The Indian Judiciaries always played a active role to uphold rule of law and ensure degeneration of democracy into tyranny of majority.

But this characteristic tendency of Judiciary has brought a new debate. Our constitution in the Articles 32 and 13 provides for the Judicial review, based on to create a check and balances vis-à-vis executive/ legislature. Based on which the judiciary can tell the law whether the law is valid or not.

~~If Judiciary prescribes & proclaims the law after making the law in question as well and void, then it is known as judicial activism. Some of the reasons for judicial activism are~~

- (1) Decline of parliament. The IITI is according to the PRS has 13 major bills pending and passed 78 bills ~~without a discussion of 5 minutes~~.
- (2) Constitutional provisions: It has created as "Aberly activist judiciary".
- (3) Indian culture of seeing judges in high esteem.
- (4) preference of Judges to be active.
- (5) glorification of democracy.

But scholars like Prabhat Bhushan Mehta and Dinesh Kapur held that Indian judiciary is an exemplary "paradox institution" which has increased its powers by creative interpretation of the constitution. They are critical of the judiciary's sovereignty. Scholars like Lavanya Taimani held that Judiciary plays the role it prefers, and neglects the role it is meant to be played. But scholars like Upendra Baxi, held that Judiciary is acting as chemotherapy for the carcinogenic Indian politics.

Hence we can say that there are better reasons for Judiciary to be achristist! It is important remember that Judiciary acted as a "safety valve" for the Indian politics, else only revolution would have been solution to people.

Q: There is a subtle difference between Judicial activism and Judicial overreach (JO). Judicial Activism comes with consent and JO without. Hence it is a hubiechive phenomenon. It depends on person to person.

Remarks

But it is said that when judiciary crosses its limit and performs the functions of executive and judiciary it is said.

that judiciary overreached.

Scholars like Pratap Bhau Mehta, held that judiciary is a self perpetuating institution. Former Justice Markhande Khatju held that "Tell me if there is one does not make if there is more. They are the against Judicial overreach."

But scholar Justice Reed of America held that judicial interpretation is not photographic rather a creative work hence we always makes law when we interpret.

Justice Bhagwati, held that gone are the days when one considers interpretation of making of laws to wrong

Judicial overreach has resulted in spreading of social and economic demo rights of

Remarks

of the people. For Ex:- PILs has resulted in to enactment of Right to education, Right to food. Judicial overreach helped in increasing security to our women Ex:- Visakha guidelines. It also helped in promoting rule of law. Ex:- special investigation team to take care of black money and Lodha committee.

To conclude, we can say Judiciary overreach is an example of "daring adjudication" leadership of Judiciary that mutated the judicial discourse of enforceability of DPSP by incorporating them in Art 21 and ensuring rule of law, social and economic democracy.

Q.A Granville Austin calls Indian Federalism as "cooperative Federalism". Some call it as "federalism with bargaining tendencies". It is said that Indian Federal System will work good if both the parties in centre and state are same.

Remarks

But the deficiencies start appearing if they are different. Our federal system was affected by interfering attitude of union government. It raised the following concerns from the state:

- (1) the interference of the union government in the name of international treaty is an encroachment by centre in the state list to give powers to.
 - (2) powers of Rajyasabha as per Article 252, 253 is contested because they argue RS is not a truly federal chamber.
 - (3) Arm-twisting of the central govt by centre in the name of "matching grants" is an encroachment into states financial powers.
 - (4) The Directions of the central govt in carrying out the state govt's executive powers.
- BL Moleswari, classified the federal relations into 3 types

Remarks

Deployment of paramilitary forces, government Appointments

- (1) peaceful: if both parties are same, no ^{very good} interference
- (2) cooperative: parties are not same but there is ^{good} consensus
- (3) Antagonistic: parties are difficult and not willing to cooperate & leading to interference by govt.
→ But the main bone of contention between centre and states is the imposition of presidents rule in the states by the union government.
Article 376 of the Indian constitution provides for this provision.

Ambedkar, held that it would be a 'safety valve' and become a "dead letter" in history of India. But it is the most misused provision. For ex. When BJP is in power it dismissed the govt. of states (1977), the same was repeated by the congress in 1980.

Recently the central govt imposed president rule in Arunachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand. Supreme court in Arunachal Pradesh case removed the government, asking saying it was an undue interference by the union govt without concrete proof.

The incident has raised the new debate on the position of the governor in the Indian federal system. It raised new questions like

(1) can Governor act on his own to prorogue/parkpone

the session

(2) can the Governor decide the matter that business

the legislative assembly has to take.

Governor, in the words of Sarkaria commission is a lynchpin. He should act in the spirit of the guidelines given in SR Bommai

5. All questions are compulsory to attempt: (125-150 Words) (12.5 × 4 = 50)
- Indian parties and their attitude towards federalism
 - India's position on Non-Agricultural Market Access in WTO as a symbol of its growing assertion at global trade regimes
 - Socialist perspective and contribution to Indian National movement was governed by need for social reform for the deprived. Comment.
 - Factors and forces working against Secularism in post independent India.

(a) Indian constitution do not use the term 'federal' but creates a federal form of government in the India. It is evident by

- (1) Schedule 7 :- division of powers.
- (2) Independent Judiciary.
- (3) written constitution.

scholars like Wheare held our federalism as "quasi-federal" because of the way constitution which gives more powers to union. Many political parties misused these provisions.

Almost without any exception all the political parties in the centre has a negative attitude towards Federalism if there are ~~is~~ a ^{Assumption} ~~is~~ a ^{wrong} ~~wrong~~ ^{right} ~~right~~ ^{agreement} different party in power in states. For Ex:

The BJP dismissed 9 states in 1977 and the same was repeated by Congress in 1980.
CP Bhambri held that Indian federal system works well if there is some political party at centre and state

But the Even the present government dismissed Uttarakhand government and Arunachal government on superficial grounds.
But the present government is also in the spirit of cooperative-competitive federalism facilitated by NTT Aayog.

Following the recommendations of Sarkaria and Pandit commissions along with

② Remarks

(b) World Trade Organization was established in 1994 with an aim of facilitating trade across world. Two important agreements are

(1) Agreement on Agriculture (AOA)

(2) NAMA (Non Agricultural market access)

NAMA deals with all those issues which are not part of AOA. It deals with goods, their tariffs etc. The major contentions between developed and developing countries like is eff tariff reducing tariffs.

India want to balance its interest of protecting domestic industries at the same time accessing foreign markets.

Ex Recent polar dispute case at WTO.

India's to linked Trade facilitation agreement (TFA) with the public participation public stockholding.

The assertion of India at global trade regimes has resulted in securing a "peace clause" for India for our position at the WTO with these issues also reflect the growing stature of India in global arena as a emerging power.

- (C) The debate about the Indian national movement was raised due to the colonial masters who questioned India as a nation. They concluded that India is not a nation rather a "geographical expression".
- The socialist perspective of the Indian national movement was governed by need for social reform as evident by the following socialist perspectives:
- (i) Nehru's perspective: He adopted the path of "Fabian Socialism". His aim to bring equality even among the deprived sections by heavy investment.

Remarks

(2) Lohia: He gave the concept of "New Socialism". The concern for Lohia is the social reform of the deprived. He gave the concept of "sevan revolution". He held that apart from political revolution there is a need for bringing revolution in all the problems like gender, caste, class, rural-urban divide etc. He called for 4-stage organization of State

(i) Village

(ii) Mandal

(iii) District

(iv) State

(3) Subhas Chandra Bose: Also go subscribed to the idea of planning to reform the deprived.

Remarks

(1) It will be better to analyse from the areas now covered i.e. on a perspective to few sectors labour reforms, several measures

(d) According to Rajeev Bhargava, Indian model of secularism is "politically contested and content specific" model.

Our secularism differs from the western model in the sense that, our model do not go for strict separation between religion and politics rather go for principle distance. We don't follow state neutrality.

But our model of secularism was came into question to the following factors and forces acting against it.

funditva: Those who subscribe to this view held that the present model of

Remarks

Congress as "pseudo-secularism" as called by Arun Shroff. They want to equate secularism with fundamentalism according to them is a way of life.

(2) Communalism: Post independent India witnessed many communal riots.

(3) Increasing Political mobilization in the name of religion has led to development of passions among people and any such exodus of Muslim voter to congress. This also led to policies of appeasement thereby disatisfying majority community.

(4) Cultural nationalists: Who held that:

only those religions who are born in India could have place in the Indian territory.

(5) Economic factors: The study of Ashgar

by taking the example of Moradabad Supreme court proclaimed that secularism is shown as a solution to the crisis of West that is being faced by western model of secularism in Egypt, France etc. hence it is important to save our secularism from orthodox elements.

6. Attempt all questions:

- (a) New social movements in India emerge around new scopes and range of politics but their success can be described as mixed at best. Substantiate the statement and also analyse the methods and strategies adopted by environmental movements in India. (200 Words) (15 Marks)
- (b) Through political party competition, the social divisions of a deeply divided society get expressed. Discuss the above statement with specific reference to social mobilization by political parties in India. (250 Words) (20 Marks)
- (c) Reservation for some is the most potent tool for social justice and empowerment but for others it is just a mechanism to gain political advantage over rivals. Address the debate from both viewpoints with recent examples. (200 Words) (15 Marks)

Concise Notes

(1) Indian constitution establishes a welfare state. For the welfare state vis-a-vis market state; ensuring social Justice is a prime objective. Reservation or Affirmative action to the disadvantaged sections to the people in India is an example of social Justice. According to Yogendra Yadav, affirmative action in India is one of the successful social Justice projects across globe.

According to the National commission for the SCs, there were just 1% of SCs in Group A jobs in 1965 but by 1995 it is almost 10%, by now it wasted half been 14-15%. How this shows how.

Remarks

reservation was proved a better tool for social Justice and empowerment.
Reservation was provided to overcome the historical injuries and create a level playing field. In the real sense.
Hence for the most disadvantaged sections like SC's, ST's and recently for transgenders it is a tool of empowerment.
But this is not the case every time.
Reservation was seen by many as a tool to gain political advantage over rival Hence scholars like RC Goher, calls that reservation has "created more heat than light". And Pratap Bhaw Mehta calls that "it diminishing our self as we tend to act as hypocrites". The recent protest-

Remarks

for the reservations across India like Kapu agitation, pathdar agitation, Jat agitation etc are examples of this. These section view reservation as a tool to gain easy jobs, easy educational opportunities and thereby taking over rivals.

It is for this reason yogendra yadav calls that our policies reached "dead end". By this he means that these political parties don't want to take back the reservation; fragmentation of social justice policies and more importantly lack of moral justification for Mandal II debate.

Hence the government need to differentiate the requests^{on} whether they are using for empowering and achieving social justice like (Transgenders) or using as a mechanism to gain political agit advantage

Remarks

had explanation
but the density is not like Jat and Kapus.. Yogendra Yadav prescribed for providing "disadvantage" points to decide for reservation. Hence the need of the hour is to encourage reservation to enhance social Justice by proper inducements and exclusions at the same time dealing with hard hand with those demanding without moral justification.

- (b) In a traditional societies like India, the ascribed identities like caste, religion, region, ethnicity, language etc plays a role. Elections brought the modernization but the communal attitude is not still given up. This resulted into what Rudolph and Rudolph calls untraditionalization of modernity and unmodernization of tradition.

Remarks

In the First past the poll system, it is highly possible and easy for political parties to mobilize people in the name of various social identities. Because of these reasons, social divisions of a deeply divided society get expressed.

The following are some of the social mobilization tools by political parties

(1) Caste:- It is said that "Indians don't caste their vote, but vote their caste".

It is one of important tool used by political parties. Ex: he cannot understand political parties Ex: he cannot understand Rajasthani elections without understanding the rivalry between Rajputs and Jats. This led to what Rajni Kothari calls "casteification of politics" and "politicization of castes".

(2) Religion:- The political parties raise the parties of the people in the religion and now that their interests are different from the

Remarks

Others. This leads to "en bloc" of votes of particular religion to a party.

~~Ex: Muslim votes to congress~~

(3) Ethnicity: All the people belonging to a particular ethnic group tend to a vote ~~in~~ ^{to} a particular party

(4) Patriarchy: It is found that many times women give vote to a person to whom the male in the family has voted.

Apart from the above other social divisions like language, region also play a role. Though some argue that cast these social divisions like caste are reason for fracturing democracy and success, scholars like Andre Beiteille, Paul Brauss are critical of it. They argue that it is against national interest.

These social mobilization tactics employed by political parties are the tools

Remarks

shows the deep social cleavages in Indian society.

(q) New social movements differs from the old social movements in the following

(1) Old social movements (OSM) are carried out for food/livelihood ~~or~~^{and} for ~~substance of life~~ but the New social movements (NSM) are for quality of life

(2) OSM are led by poor but NSM are led by educated people.

(3) OSM tend to be local in nature, whereas NSM tends to be spread over long territory.

Feminist movement, Environmental movement,
Human rights movement are all examples of NSM.

Due to vast diversity NSM has wide scope and range of politics in India but their success is limited.

(1) Sunitha Narayanan calls that environmental movement is a failure in India. He says that at maximum they could. Stop projects but could not bring policies and legislations

Remarks

(2) RC Gung calls that India emerged as

as a "basket case" he calls argues that despite environmental movement, "dead rivers, polluted sky's, destroyed forest, and displaced tribals" is what we see today.

(3) Amrita Basu, argues that women's movement could not secure women's rights.

(A) With emergence of human rights "Industry"

their success also came under question.
Methods and strategies by environmental movement

① lobbying and interest articulation:- & for environmental movement
NGO's like Greenpeace mobilize people to express their will against Kudankulam Nuclear power project

② objective data: Due to the data provided by NGOs on loss of diversity and environment

GOVT government constituted Gadgil committee and called off silent valley project.
