

The Slave and Lion

Once there was a slave. He had a cruel master. He used to treat him badly. He used to beat him and starve him. He was so much fed up that he ran away. He went to a forest. There he saw a lion crying with pain. The slave saw that there was a thorn in the lion paw. He removed the thorn. The lion was relieved of his pain

After a few days, the slave was caught by the king's men he was ordered to put before the hungry lion. People came to see this act of cruelty.

On the fixed day the slave was put in a big cage and hungry lion was let loose. The lion came roaring towards him. Luckily it was the same lion, it recognized him it licked the slave's feet. All the spectators were surprised. The slave told them the whole story and the master set him free.

Moral: kindness pays.

Or

Do good, have good.