Once upon a time three friends – a crow, an elephant and a monkey- lived together peacefully. One day the elephant and the crow had a fight as they could not decide who was the wisest among them. They decided to find out who was the oldest amongst them since surely, he would be the most experienced and thus the wisest.

Thereafter, all the three friends sat under a banyan tree. The monkey asked the elephant about the banyan tree. “How big was the tree when you first saw it”? The elephant said, “I used to rub my body on the baby banyan tree when I was small.”
