An Accident

Last Sunday I was going to my aunt's house on foot on the circular road. The road was very busy because it was a rush hour. Suddenly I heard a noise. I looked around and found a car moving towards the pavement. One of its tyres had burst. The driver lost control over the car. The car ran on the pavement, hit the electric pole and came to halt. The driver and two boys sitting at the car. Otherwise it might have driver and the boys to get down. They wthey were taken to the nearby hospital.
